THOS. S. GRUNDY, The next Congress- man from the Fourth.

His Candidacy Welcomed from all over the District.

And Support Assured Him From Every Quarter.

Your correspondent had an interview to-day with Senator Thos. S. Grundy, who is a candidate for Congress from the Fourth Congressional district. The Senator was just returning from a visit to the southern counties of the district where, in answer to your correspondent's question, he found the situation very favoring to his candidacy.

The people of the district, and especially the farming element, he says, are in a restless and unsatisfied humor. They feel the weight of the burdens placed upon them by Federal laws and murmur at the seeming lack of sympathy for their condition upon the part of their Legislators. This State of affairs has given birth to the Farmers' Alliance idea, which is fast becoming a power in Kentucky politics.

When questioned as to his position in the race, the Senator said: "In announcing myself a candidate, I respond to the requests of my Democratic and farmer friends in the various counties of the district, and I do it conscious of the disadvantages at which any farmer enters the lists against trained politicians; yet with a strong faith in the justice of the cause of agricultural and business masses, I have entered the race with a full realization of the duties that will confront me, and the demands that will be made of me in case of my nomination and election."

To-day the agricultural masses, while they are the wealth-producing people, labor under unequal burdens of taxation that are borne by no other members of the business community. The tendency of Congressional legislation for the last quarter of a century has been in favor of the moneyed classes as against the agricultural masses. Everything that enters into the daily consumption of our people is heavily taxed by Federal laws enacted for the benefit and protection of Eastern capitalists and manufacturers, while the price of everything raised upon the farm for our domestic markets is regulated by the decree of Trusts and Combinations that cheat the farmer out of the just reward of his honest toil, and turns the profits of his labor into the pockets of capitalists grown rich by these means. Armour & Co. control the meat market, and the Chicago Combine regulates the price of our grain. The magnitude and injustice of the schemes have called into existence the organization of over three million of farmers in our States and Territories, who feel compelled to combine against this aggressive encroachment upon their rights as equal citizens of the community. Limited coinage and limited circulation has made money dear, while securities for money are at a premium and agricultural products at a discount. Excessive revenue has been collected, and this surplus has encouraged national extravagance. The redress of these wrongs and the protection of these rights invoke the best interests of the entire country and constitute the fundamental principles of our form of government, and should I be nominated by the people of my district and elected to represent them in Congress, as a Democrat and a farmer, it would be my chief duty and pleasure to labor for the repeal of class legislation, and for the enactment of laws that would place our agricultural masses upon an equal footing with the capitalists who have grown rich at their expense.—Springfield News.

Col. T. S. Grundy, of Washington county, gives us the authority to announce his candidacy for Congress. Col. Grundy comes before the people as a staunch Democrat, as a statesman of experience and as a farmer who has achieved success between the plow handles, as it were. Having served three terms in the Lower House of the Legislature and two terms in the State Senate, Col. Grundy is well fitted for the position to which he aspires. As a farmer he has done more to advance the interests of "soil tillers" than any other five farmers in the district combined. He is a capable man and a popular candidate.—LaRue Co. Herald.

We announce this week the Hon. Thos. S. Grundy as a candidate for Congress in this, the Fourth Congressional district of Kentucky. Mr. Grundy has represented Washington Co. in the Legislature three times and in the State Senate twice, distinguishing himself as a conservative and able legislator. Senator Grundy is one of the largest farmers and stock raisers in the district, and his candidacy has been announced at this late day in answer to requests from his farmer and Democratic friends, that he could not ignore.

His appearance in the race has changed the turn of affairs to a very considerable extent. As a life-long Democrat, he will receive a strong support among the politicians of the party, and as a life-long farmer and the special friend of the agricultural masses, he will receive an enthusiastic support from this quarter, such as to render his friends confident that he will be honored with the nomination of his party.—Ohio Co. Farmer.

Hon. Thos. S. Grundy, of Washington county, is announced as a candidate for the Democratic nomination to Congress. Mr. Grundy is a prominent farmer, has served in the State Legislature many times, and will make, if elected, an honest, incorruptible Representative. He will receive a strong support in Nelson.—Nelson Record.

A BIG REWARD!

Is offered the man who can produce a better bargain in a suit of clothes than can be found at our house; if there is any house in this city that can show a better made, better trimmed or more honest Suit of Clothes, Overcoat or pair of Pants than we do we want to know it; we have never heard of such a house and never expect to. We are exclusive home manufacturers and claim that our "own make" is far superior to any other, because the cloth is thoroughly steam shrunk before cutting; it is cut by our regular custom cutters, made by our custom tailors and critically examined by our foreman, before placing it in stock. We guarantee the seams not to rip, the buttons to stay on and to hold in shape. Our stock is very large and includes all sizes for men, boys and children, and at prices to suit
